POLICY

Previous registrants of the NSCMIRTP who require reinstatement of license will be required to pay annual fees and will be subject to a reinstatement fee.

RATIONALE

Registrants of the NSCMIRTP are required to maintain good standing with the Regulator through renewal of license and remittance of annual fees. This policy outlines the fees associated with reinstating a lapsed license.

PROCEDURE

Annual renewal of licensure fees is due on November 1st of each year. Failure of the registrant to remit licensure fees by December 31st each year will result in suspension of the registrant license, and a reinstatement fee will be levied at time of registration.

A notice will be sent out to the registrant to inform them that their license has lapsed and they are no longer legally allowed to practice in Nova Scotia. The notice will include the requirements for reinstatement and provide information regarding the required remediation.

Those that did not resign in good standing and wish to reinstate will be required to remit annual fees, and a reinstatement fee (see Appendix A: Fee Schedule for amount). Registrants who resign in good standing and wish to reinstate are not subject to a reinstatement fee.
